27th Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading:

The two become one flesh.
(Genesis 2.7ab, 15, 18-24)

Responsorial Psalm:

R. May the Lord bless us all the days of our lives.
(Ps 128.1-2, 3, 4-5 (R.5))

Second Reading:

For the one who sanctifies and those who are sanctified all have one Father.
(Hebrews 2.9-11)

Gospel:

What God has joined together, let no man separate.
(Mark 10.2-6).

What God Has Joined Together

The Virgin Mary Mother of God was the faithful spouse of the Holy Spirit. There is no one else on this planet like her. She crushed the head of the Serpent. She was there at Pentecost when as Jesus said the Spirit would come, and that was why he had to leave (so the Spirit of truth would come). There is no one else is like the Virgin Mary.

We know about Mary Magdalene and that she was with Jesus in His ministry and present at the crucifixion, and beyond, at His resurrection.

There is no talk of Jesus being as close to any other two women as His Mother Mary, Mother of God, as well as Mary Magdalene.

No one else will ever be either of these women of faith and have the privileges they had. There is something that approaches loss in the truth of this.

However, there is something all of us can strive for as a way to be like both the Virgin Mary and Mary Magdalene. It is to practice virtue which both would certainly have done while following Jesus in His ministry. No vice will equal the exhilaration of practicing Virtue and could lessen the sense loss in this present life.
